Take part in SEND customer satisfaction survey

We need your views on the support children and young people with Special Educational Needs and/or Disabilities receive in Somerset. We're asking young people, parent carers and practitioners for feedback about what is working, or not working across Education, Health and Social Care as a whole. Somerset County Council has developed a questionnaire with the help of young people, families and practitioners.

Please take a little time to complete it before Friday 19 July to help us shape and improve services. The results from the survey will be used to inform the future development of SEND support in Somerset and we'll share the outcomes with you.

You can complete the surveys online:

For parent carers:

For practitioners:

School's a bit of a nightmare

There's an excellent video by a young man called Harry with autism who shares his experiences of school through animation.

The film gives a great insight to some of the day to day challenges that some of us might take for granted. Watch it here: <https://bit.ly/2Z0pJuW>

You can get inspiration from your creative side

Nicole Tucker is 21 and has cerebral palsy which affects all her limbs. But as she says, it doesn't get in the way of doing things, in fact she's started her own line in cards and T-shirts.

She says: "It might take me a DAY to make a single card, I love making cards and anything art and crafts.

"It makes me feel like a "normal" person (I don't like that word). I have got little techniques to do things. I am also creating some inclusive t-shirts. My new group
